~Things you might not know about me~

~ I love to bike – whether peddling around Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa, or cruising Sanibel Island, Florida, I prefer bicycling to any other sport or exercise.

~ I'm a Parrot Head – a Jimmy Buffett fan. I used to listen to mostly classic rock and Italian opera, but tropical rock is now my favorite - Phins up!

~ I wrote two really marginal historical romances in the '80s. Someday I plan to go back and rewrite them, just for fun.

~ I'm kind of a programming geek. I write detailed macros using Visual Basic in MS Excel.

~ I play backgammon - intensely.

~ My favorite foods are green olives and maple syrup. Not mixed together, however.

~ I honeymooned in Duluth Minnesota. In the winter!

~ I was thrown off a horse and broke my leg. There are four pins holding it together.

~ I won first prize in a newspaper contest in fourth grade writing a short story, "Why My Mother Deserves a Whole Tree Full of Roses." First prize was – a rose bush.

~ In my 30s, I was a drummer in a band – we played '50s, '60s, country, and wedding music. The Bunny Hop is still my favorite.

~ I studied belly dancing, and taught line dancing during the Urban Cowboy era.

~ I lived in Las Vegas for three years, and met David Hasslehoff.

~ I've skied Telluride, Colorado, and canoed and camped through the Boundary Waters Canoe Area Wilderness.
